APAC Appoints New Chair

The Australian Psychology Accreditation Council (APAC) is pleased to announce that Professor John Dunn has been appointed as its new Chair. John succeeds Professor Caroline Hunt, who completed her term as a director at the 2019 AGM.

John is a Professor of Psychology in the School of Arts and Humanities at Edith Cowan University, Adjunct Professor in the School of Psychological Science at the University of Western Australia, and Honorary Visiting Research Fellow in the School of Psychology at the University of Adelaide. Previously, he has been the Chair of APAC, Chair of the Heads of Departments and Schools of Psychology Association, and Head of the School of Psychology at the University of Adelaide. He is a Fellow of the Psychonomic Society, and a member of the Association for Psychological Science, the International Association of Applied Psychology, the Cognitive Science Society, Society for Mathematical Psychology, and the Australasian Mathematical Psychology Society.

John said 'I am delighted to have been appointed as the Chair of APAC at an exciting time for the organisation. I am looking forward to working with my fellow directors and the team at APAC to deliver excellent accreditation services to our stakeholders'. APAC CEO, Michael Carpenter, said 'I am very pleased that APAC has been able to appoint someone with John's experience to the Chair. He brings a clear vision and strong strategic focus to the role and I am very much looking forward to working with him'.
